

Diana Aviles

SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT

ABOUT

Throughout the past years I have gained experience in different fields, mostly between teaching languages in institutes in Mexico and France and graphic design at those locations as well. That has provided me with experience in working with multicultural teams as well as I have gained leadership and time management skills. I am currently looking for a position as a data scientist where I can utilize these skills and the ones I am currently learning in order to develop unique and innovative strategies across multiple channels.
